

ENGLISH PAPER SAYS THE JAPANESE SOUGHT A PORT

CONFIRMATION OF THIS FACT COMES FROM AMERICAN CONSUL ON WEST COAST OF MEXICO TO STATE DEPARTMENT.

IS IT THE REAL REASON?

Is Denied By the Japanese Minister and Authorities But Has Created Considerable Comment in Diplomatic Circles in Two National Capitals. [BY UNITED PRESS.]

London, Eng., March 14.—Stating unequivocally the "military junta" are in reality a demonstration against Japan. "The Standard" prints an article from its American correspondent that has created a sensation in diplomatic circles. All papers today however print denial from Tokyo that the Mikado is meddlesome in Mexican affairs.

Official Confirmation.

Washington, March 14.—Coming simultaneously with an official confirmation from the vice Consul from Mazatlan on the west coast of Mexico that negotiations are in progress between Japanese steamships, lines and Mexico's national railroads, it is believed the Japanese effort to secure a coaling station while in St. Paul en route west today declared he is suspicious that some power greater than the President be denied former report of pending negotiations.

Mexico, March 14.—Forty thousand tropical uniforms, ammunition, field artillery, and supplies intended for tropical service, together with the 13th Cavalry today loaded the transport Sheridan down when she cleared for America. The uniforms and supplies are for soldiers in Texas.

Plans Made.

Washington, D. C., March 14.—In case of the actual invasion of Mexico, the responsibility of handling the Pacific coast side of the situation will devolve upon Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, a man of many years' experience and great ability. He will have the cooperation of the Pacific fleet, but it is known that should he attempt to cross the line some real fighting might occur. He has only limited forces with him, while the 20,000 men stationed in Texas give considerable support to any movement started south from there.

St. Paul, Minn., March 14.—Senator Miles Poindexter, one of the new militant progressives in congress while in St. Paul en route west today declared he is suspicious that some power greater than the President be denied former report of pending negotiations.

WILL TRY HECKLING. AMBASSADOR REID'S SON WEDDED TODAY AGAINST DEMOCRATS APPROVED BY KING

Republican Leaders Have Decided What Shall Be House Minority Attitude Toward Speaker Clark. [BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, March 14.—A policy of "heckling" has been decided upon by Republican leaders, as the House minority attitude towards Speaker Champ Clark and the Democrats in the coming extra session.

The rules of the House are full of pitfalls for the unwary. "Phoebe Jones," speaker, had to trust himself to Acher C. Hinds at least three or four times a day for parliamentary rulings.

There are two parliamentary experts on the Democratic side—Fitzgerald of New York and Sherley of Kentucky—and many other good rules men. Among the Republicans there are Hinds the greatest living authority on House rules; "Jim" Man of Illinois; Mr. Olmstead of Pennsylvania; Serano E. Payne of New York and Cannon himself.

Rep. Mann recently gave proof of his parliamentary sagacity by a masterly filibuster against the enabling clause bill. A perfectly good majority in the House had to resign itself to Hinds' whims. There was no stopping him. And he always was within the rules. He gave the Democrats a fair example of what they may expect during their regime in the House. He concluded with a satirical threat for them to be good.

"I think we will have a good deal of fun after April 4th," said Mann here today. "Things will begin to happen right off the bat."

NO LINES DRAWN BY MEXICANS AS TO THE PRISONERS

Official Reply Is Made by Minister of Finance to Request for Clemency. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, N. Y., March 14.—What may be considered in effect an official Mexican reply to recent representations said to have been made by the United States adding as liberal treatment as possible for Americans caught bearing arms on Mexican territory, is contained in a statement made here this afternoon by Mexican Minister of Finance Llantour. In substance it indicated that captured American allies of the revolutionist forces must take chances with their Mexican red companions. The intimation is strong that no preferential treatment can be accorded them. This is considered to mean that under martial law they might be summarily tried and executed.

WOMAN WAS INSANE, REPORT PHYSICIANS

Even Medical Men for Prosecution Say Alleged Murderess of Son Is Crazy. [BY UNITED PRESS.]

Albany, N. Y., March 14.—Three physicians who will testify in the trial against Mrs. Edith Melher, accused of murdering her son, George, today declared the woman is insane and should have been in an insane asylum fifteen years ago. Because of her nervous condition the woman will not take the stand. Testimony in the trial tended to show Mrs. Melher's insanity may have been in the franchise.

The court affirmed the decision of the lower court that the company could not be forced to turn over two per cent of its gross earnings to the city after the company had surrendered its franchise and accepted the permit. Conditions in many cities are affected by the ruling.

The law also provided that every franchise given to such a company after the passage of the law should be indeterminate in time and not for a given period, and should be subject to the provision that the city of village might purchase it at any time at a price to be fixed by the railroad commission.

FACTORY MANAGERS HAD LONG SESSION

Legislation Now Before Wisconsin Assembly Which Vitaly Effects Local Manufacturers Was Discussed.

More than usual interest was manifested at the meeting of the Janesville Superintendents Association at the office of the Lay-Waterson Shoe Company last evening. Nearly every manufacturing plant in the city was represented by one or more members of the firm or managing force and remained until a late hour deeply interested in the discussion of the proposed legislation in the state and national legislatures which will affect the factories and their systems.

One bill which was especially condemned was the one before the state assembly, placing in the hands of the factory inspector the right of condemning factory equipment and buying new according to his ideas in the matter. It was the general opinion that this was too much and too arbitrary a power to place in one man, who might be susceptible to bribes. In the estimation of most of the men it would be much better to place this power in the hands of a number of men in a commission.

Another bill which was strenuously opposed was the proposed law limiting the hours for female labor to eight per day. It was claimed that this would entirely upset the present factory systems and cause endless annoyance in the matter of adjustment, on account of the fact that the men would still be employed for ten hours.

Nearly all of the men present entered into the discussion with warmth and conviction and listened attentively to the views of their confederates. Among some of the speakers were, R. R. Lay of the Lay-Waterson Company, F. J. Bartoof of the Janesville Clothing company, John C. Nichols of the Nichols Harness company, N. L. Mihkin of the Janesville Machine company and L. A. Waterson.

The next meeting of the association will be held on the 28th of March in the office of the Parker Pen company.

JUDGE GRIMM HEARS ARGUMENTS IN CASE

Will of the Late Agnes Barry Is Brought Before Circuit Court.

In the circuit court this afternoon, was started the case of the matter of the will of the late Agnes Barry of this city, which the plaintiff appealed to this court after the will was refused admittance to probate before Judge Sadek. The issue is over the mental capacity of the deceased at the time she made or attempted to make the will. The taking of testimony of the witnesses to the instrument was begun late this afternoon.

The final hearing in two cases of petition for naturalization was heard this morning. The men admitted to citizenship by Judge Grimm were: Joseph Grundy of Harmony, and Frederick Rehfeld of Rock. One more will be heard this afternoon, all of these having been left over from the hearings of several weeks ago.

A divorce was granted this morning by Judge Grimm to the plaintiff, in the action of Caroline Whittle vs. Lansing Whittle, both parties being of Beloit. The grounds for the bringing of the action were habitual drunkenness and other charges. An interlocutory judgment was granted, the plaintiff being given the house and lot in Beloit until her divorce.

This two-button model embodies all the style embellishments that appeal to young men who demand "correctly different" clothes. There is a characteristic smartness about this style that is indicative of THE L. SYSTEM expression of the young man's higher ideals in dress.

The regular terms on pianos like the Skavlem Club pianos are $25.00 cash and $10.00 a month. The Skavlem Club terms are $5.00 cash and a dollar and a quarter a week.

The terms given to the members of this big Skavlem Inaugural Club are the easiest ever made on a really high-grade piano.

$5 Cash 125 Week Go into any piano store of repute in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco,

Denver, and buy a piano of the grade and class of these we are supplying to the Skavlem Club, and you will be asked to make payments of $25 as a cash payment and then $10 a month. Maybe, in some instances, these terms can be brought down as low as $20 cash and $6 or $8 a month, and then, in addition to this, interest will be charged at the rate of 8 per cent—but never to our absolute knowledge have pianos of this grade sold as low as the Skavlem Club terms—$5 dollars down, then a dollar and a quarter a week—and there is positively no interest added to this. Five dollars is all it takes to join the Skavlem Club—or less than one-fourth as much as it usually takes to make the first payment on a piano of the same grade.

After the first payment is made, one dollar and twenty-five cents a week is all it takes to make the weekly payments, or one-half as much as regular or customary payments.

You pay 5 dollars when you join the Club. This is credited to the Club price of the piano ($277.50, leaving $272.50 to be paid at the rate of only $1.25 a week—or, seventeen cents a day).

Only in big deals like this can such terms be made on such pianos. Cheap pianos can be sold on cheap terms, but it is only where a deal of great magnitude is made; where pianos are bought by the hundreds; where great savings are made in the buying; where a great market can be made in a short time at a little expense, can such terms as these be made on such high grade pianos.

You Can Get 15c a Week back, in Cash, If You Pay Faster Than $1.25 a Week.

You are not compelled to take 218 weeks in which to pay for your piano—the life of the Skavlem Club. If you pay $1.25 a week, straight along, it takes 218 weeks to pay for the piano.

If you do take the full time—218 weeks—the piano costs you $277.50. If you take less time, the piano costs you less.

Every week you reduce the time you take to pay for your piano, you reduce the price 15 cents. For instance, if you pay for your piano in 217 weeks instead of 218 weeks, the piano will cost you $277.35 instead of $277.50. If you pay for your piano in 208 weeks instead of 218 weeks, you will save ten times 15 cents or $1.50, making the piano stand you $276 instead of $277.50.

You save 15c (which we hand you in cash every week) each and every time you pay one week in advance

You will thus see that if you were to pay two weeks' dues straight along instead of one, or, in other words, if you were to pay $2.50 a week instead of $1.25 a week, you would pay for your piano in half the time, or in 108 weeks instead of 218 weeks, thus saving $16.35, or making your piano cost you $261.15, as against the club member who takes the full 218 weeks.

In the same way—suppose a club member would like to pay spot cash. He would be paying 218 weeks in advance of the time allowed him—wouldn't he? Two hundred and eighteen times 15 cents is 32 dollars and 70 cents. Take this amount from $277.50, the 218 weeks' price, and the spot cash club member would get his piano for $244.80.

Did you ever see a fairer proposition? Fair to the spot cash man. Fair to the club member who wants to take the full life of the club, and fair to the fellow who wants to pay up in between times.

For the convenience of people who cannot come in during the day the store will be open every evening until 10 o'clock.

SUPREME COURT'S DECISION GIVEN IN LOCAL CASE

CITY OF JANESEVILLE WINS SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST IT ON OLD SEWER CONTRACT.

ENDS A LONG LITIGATION

Decision of the Circuit Court Reversed by the Supreme Tribunal of the State.

After six years of litigation in the courts, a decision was today rendered by the supreme court of this state, resulting in a complete victory for the city of Janesville, in the case of R. T. Hanrahan and A. H. Lindquist vs. the city of Janesville. The plaintiffs started action for damages in the circuit court in 1905, were detained in all but one item there, and today by the reversal of the supreme court were deprived of even the one item allowed by Judge Grimm. This appeal means a saving to the city in the neighborhood of $3,000.

The case grows out of four contracts made between the city and M. J. Benson of Chicago, on August 9, 1901, for the construction of a sewage system for the city. It has been in the courts for the past six years and has been to the supreme court once before.

After Benson completed the sewage in district No. 12, he submitted the work in the three remaining districts to the plaintiffs, Hanrahan and Lindquist, and they completed the work as subcontractors. The contracts with Benson amounted to $29,824.78. After the work was completed the plaintiffs, on November 27, 1905, filed a claim with the city for $12,650.40, as damages which they claimed they sustained in prosecuting the work by reason of defective plans, extra work and various other details.

The case came up before Judge Grimm for trial. He decided in favor of the city on all of the items in the claim except the item for extra excavation and on that item, rendered a judgment against the city for $2,652.63, with an additional $12.81 for costs. The city appealed from this decision to the supreme court.

This court, today, reversed the decision of the circuit court on this item. The common council of the city, when the claim was filed, disallowed all of the claim except $12,120, and the effect of the decision of the supreme court is to sustain the city yesterday.

WHEELOCK ARRESTED FOR PETTY LARCENY

Officer Sam Brown Takes Man In Custody While He Sees Him Riting Rig.

Arrested last night by Officer Sam Brown, after a chase up North Franklin street, Bert Wheelock, a local young man, was arraigned in municipal court this morning on a charge of petty larceny, second offense, for the theft of a fur robe valued at seven dollars from the buggy of a farmer named Gus Roethl. Wheelock has previously served an eighteen month term in state prison for the theft of a satchel and the penalty will probably be more severe. He admitted the theft of the robe this morning, waiting examination and laying the cause of his act to the fact that he had been drinking. Bail was fixed at $500 and the trial set for next Monday, March 20.

Officer Brown, it is said, had been watching Wheelock, and when the latter took the robe, started in pursuit of the alleged thief. Wheelock started on the run up North Franklin street and secured a lead on the officer, but Brown secured an automobile and soon captured Wheelock. Wheelock was lodged in the jail overnight.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Another main line or trunk line telephone wire has been added to the Gazette telephone equipment by the Rock County Telephone company, under the direction of Manager H. C. Whittle. This makes a total of three independent wires from the central station of the Rock County company and will facilitate greatly the telephone business of the Gazette and its principals. The increasing number of calls and the constant demand for phone service made the addition of the third line a necessity. The new additional number of 27 and the wire goes directly to the office of the Printing Department. By the use of a unique arrangement of individual automatic switch-boxes, which was evolved by Manager Whittle, to fill the requirements of this particular case, any of the three lines numbered 62, Editorial Room; 77, Business Office; or 27, Printing Department, can be used by the person calling the Gazette for conversation with any one of the departments.

If you are talking with the Editorial Department and wish to speak with either the Business Office or Printing Department you need not call back over the line connected directly with those departments, but simply request such connection as you desire. The original call should be made for whatever department and telephone you wish to speak with, but if the line is busy connect will give you one of the others and the transfer upon your request to the Gazette will be handled by the party answering.

FISHER SWORN IN AS INTERIOR HEAD

Chicagoan Succeeds Richard A. Ballinger as Secretary.

PLANS NO PERSONAL CHANGES

Says Will Give Cunningham Claims Fullest Consideration Should They Be Formally Submitted to Him.

Washington, March 14.—The responsibility of the secretaryship of the department of the interior was shifted when Walter L. Fisher of Chicago took the oath of office as head of that department, succeeding Richard A. Ballinger.

The oath was administered in the private office of the secretary by W. B. Acker, a division chief in the department, acting in the capacity of notary public. The formality was entire without ceremony, and only the immediate principals to the change were present. Following the oath-taking, telegrams were exchanged between the new and the retiring secretary.

At first it was planned to have Chief Clerk Ulcer of the department administer the oath. But just before the time for the ceremony one of the department's law officers ruled that the chief clerk had the power to administer oaths only to employees of the department, and Mr. Fisher was not an employee, but the chief. He further declared that the oath could be administered either by a judicial officer or a notary public.

Planning No Personal Changes.

Asked as to his policies, Mr. Fisher said:

"I shall give all my time in the immediate future to acquainting myself with the work of the department. No changes in the personnel will be made during that time, and proffered resignations will not be considered. I have no plans for the summer months, and do not know whether I will visit the works of the interior department throughout the country at that time." When asked whether the Cunningham coal claims in Alaska would be formally submitted to him as reported, Mr. Fisher said:

"If that report is true, I have not been advised of it. Should the case reach me for action at any time no decision would be reached until I have given it the fullest possible consideration."

Save the Coal Dust.

Coal dust should never be wasted. Have a special galvanized scuttle for it and mix sufficient water with it to make it quite moist. When a fire is nice and clear bank it up with this coal dust and it will last for hours.

Where this is done there is no accumulation of coal dust so common in some households.

TO PRESS DIRECT VOTE

DORAH PREPARES NEW BILL FOR SUBMISSION.

Expected Extra Session of Congress Will Pass Measure for Popular Election of Senators.

Washington, March 14.—The resolution submitting to the states a constitutional amendment providing for the direct election of United States senators will probably be passed during the extra session of congress which will convene three weeks from today.

Senator Dorah, who had charge of the resolution in the last session when it failed adoption by a very narrow margin of votes, is now preparing another in a slightly amended form, which he will introduce the day the Senate convenes. It will be presented before the Judiciary Committee, and, with the precedent of the committee's action in the last session as an incentive, it is expected the new resolution will be favorably reported within two or three weeks after congress meets.

Mr. Dorah has learned from the experience gathered during the long fight on the previous resolution where the weak positions are and will resume the fight against the tactics of those who will oppose him. He expects to be able to make it the unfinished business of the Senate and keep it before the body while it is awaiting the action of the House on such tariff measures as may be submitted by the ways and means committee.

That this resolution will be adopted by the Senate, no one doubts. With nine new Democrats in the Senate and the ranks of the Republican progressives swelled to an even dozen, a two-thirds vote for the resolution is assured.

House Democrats say that body will agree to whatever form of resolution the Senate adopts. The House has voted affirmatively four times for such a constitutional amendment, once under Democratic control, and three times when the Republicans were in a majority.

URGES JAIL FOR TUB MEN

Wickersham Is Determined to Press Criminal Prosecution of Heads of Alleged Trust.

Washington, March 14.—The government will move the criminal trial of the 31 individuals and 14 corporations, defendants in the now famous "tub trust" case, to the first week in April.

The statement is authoritatively made at the department that all the defendants will be called to answer to the indictment without immunity to any sort of degree having been granted to any of them.

Attorney General Wickersham has several times avowed he would press for jail sentences in case of convictions, and twice refused to compromise on pleas of guilty and fines only.

The courts have overruled all pleas of immunity and deferrals which have been raised.

NAT GOODWIN TO REMARRY

Reported Comedian Will Lead His Leading Lady to Altar Upon Obtaining Divorce.

New York, March 14.—It is reported on good authority that Nat Goodwin is to be married for the fifth time as soon as his present wife, Mrs. Edna Goodrich Goodwin, is granted a divorce decree. The fifth bride of the comedian, according to the reports, will be Miss Margaret Moreland, leading woman in Mr. Goodwin's version of "Lend Me Five Shillings," now playing in vaudeville.

That the present Mrs. Goodwin will be granted the divorce decree there seems to be no doubt.

BRAZILIANS DIE IN RIOTS

Anticlerical Demonstration Ends in Police Battle and Churches Are Guarded.

Rio Janeiro, March 14.—Anticlerical rioting has occurred at Sao Paulo. The military and police attacked the mob, which fought back, and during the encounter several persons were killed and others injured. One hundred and fifty arrests were made. All of the churches in Sao Paulo have been placed under military guard. The rioting originated in the disappearance from a parochial school of a young girl who could not be produced by the school authorities when a demand for her was made.

Longer Life for the Broom

A little intelligent care will make quite a noticeable difference in the work broom will do and the length of time it will wear. A broom that is used very day should be washed once a week and this is most easily done by preparing a bucketful of suds made by dissolving a tablespoon of Gold Dust washing powder in hot water; dip the broom up and down in these suds until the bristles are cleaned and bright; then rinse and hang up to dry. If a new broom is dipped in hot rods before used the bristles will be toughened and will not break so easily. Always hang the Built close to the ground; height of spreader from ground only 36 inches; easy to load. By having only one wheel in front, the pole does not swing and thresh about when crossing dead furrows or rough ground. The single front wheel also prevents warping and twisting of frame when passing over rough ground, because the frame follows the rear wheels. If the spreader is run over an obstruction or into a ditch, the frame will not twist, consequently the frame remains rigid and the joints are always tight.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"THREE was young lady from Kent
Who always said just what she meant.
Said her friends, 'She's a dear,
So unique, so sincere!'
And they shunned her by common consent."

Why is it, I wonder, that people who pride themselves on saying just what they mean, somehow seem to mean disagreeable things most of the time?

Why is it that people who pride themselves on seeing clearly seem to see flaws so much oftener than good points?

A little neighbor of mine put on her new gown for our inspection the other day, and avoided our admiration with all the excitement and enthusiasm of a young person who doesn't have pretty gowns often enough to conceal her pride and delight.

A blood relation of the lady from Kent, a person who prides herself on her sincerity and goes about proclaiming the rest of the world for their lack of it, happened to be present.

"You're pretty, but there is something wrong with the sleeves," was her immediate comment.

My little neighbor's pretty raiment gave place to a look of disappointment and anxiety as suddenly as if a cloud had hidden the sun.

And I find all I could do not to suggest to the lady that she consult an oculist for those abnormally flowing eyes of hers.

You say that if there was anything the matter with the gown it was well for its possessor to know about it that she might have the truth corrected.

Quite so.

But why need that have been the only thing the lady saw and the first thing she said?

Why might she not have noticed and remarked that the lines of the skirt were excellent, that the color was most becoming and that the whole effect was thoroughly attractive, and then later have made the suggestion about the sleeves?

She would have done just as much good and caused less unhappiness.

One may see clearly and yet see kin'dly; one may say just what one means without being killjoy. If one will go about it in the proper spirit,

For I think one can be sincere and yet remember and live by Helene's definition of the purpose of the tongue:

"God has given us our tongues wherewith we may say pleasant things to our neighbors."

THE COMMONPLACE.
"Do life's plain, common work as it comes, eat life that daily bread and daily duties are the sweetest things in life." Is a little piece of philosophy from Robert Louis Stevenson, and yet, simple as it is, it is one of the hardest pieces of advice to follow.

What do the common wicks of life well without finding it drudgery; to do the plain things of life in such a way as to make them attractive, these are the tasks most of us are likely to

The KITCHEN CABINET

It good resolutions could furnish wings everybody would fly.

Coffee Cakes and Rolls.

For a breakfast cake there is none that takes the place of the light and spongy coffee cake as made by the German and French people.

Coffee Cake.—Scald a cup of milk, and when lukewarm add a third of a yeast cake; when dissolved add one-fourth of a cup of sugar, half a teaspoon of salt, a third of a cup of butter or butter and lard, one egg well-beaten and flour to make a stiff batter. Beat well and add a half cup of raisins cut in pieces. Cover and let rise over night. In the morning spread in a buttered dripping pan one-half inch thick. Cover closely and let rise again. Before baking brush over with a beaten egg and cover with the following mixture: Melt three tablespoonsfuls of butter, add one-third of a cup of sugar and one teaspoon of cinnamon; when the sugar is partly melted add three tablespoonsfuls of soda. The plans for the destruction of the Jews conceived by Haman were frustrated by Queen Esther, a Jewess, and the niece of Mordecai. The whole story is contained in the Book of Esther, and the only religious element in the celebration of the feast is the reading of the "Megillah," the Book of Esther, in the synagogues of the Orthodox Jews.

Potato Muffins.—This mixture may be baked in the form of rolls and if set to rise at 11 in the morning will be ready to bake at six.

To one cup of scalded milk add two cups of sliced potato, a cup of boiling water, two tablespoonsfuls of butter and one tablespoonful of salt, a third of a yeast cake dissolved in a little of the water, two eggs well beaten and four cups of sifted flour. Beat well and let rise until 4:30, knead and make into rolls. It may be necessary during the rising period to cut the mixture down two or three times during the day before it is formed into rolls.

The secret of having good rolls is the cutting down process and keeping them well covered and warm.

Raised Oatmeal Muffins.—To three-fourths of a cup of scalded milk add a fourth of a cup of sugar and a half of a teaspoon of salt; when lukewarm add a fourth of a yeast cake dissolved in a fourth of a cup of lukewarm milk. Work a cup of cold cooked oatmeal into two and a half cups of flour; beat thoroughly and let stand over night. In the morning add buttered bacon pans and let rise in a warm place. When light bake in a moderate oven.

New Meat Boiler.—A boiler, invented by a Virginian, holds the meat to be cooked in a vertical position within a casing that catches every drop of juice that falls from it.

NOVEL COOKING UTENSIL.

Five Dishes Can Be Cooked at Once Over One Gas Burner.

A cooking utensil that has many things to recommend it has been invented by an old woman. Its chief merit is that it will cook five things at once over one burner of a gas stove, thereby saving space, trouble and fuel. A circular platter has the pins arranged around handle to the center and the pins have attachments, so that they can either be opened on a hinge and dropped back again or can be held open indefinitely. Usually only one thing can be cooked but even direct descent from a remote ancestor means very little in the realm of nature. Take Tolstoy's case. He is in the twentieth generation from the German Indris—that is, Indris was in the twentieth generation back of him. Is he the only ancestor Tolstoy had in that generation? On the contrary, his parents were two, his grandparents four, his great-grandparents eight, etc.—that is, the number of ancestors doubles with every generation.

Proceeding thus, we find that in the fifth generation back Tolstoy had 32 ancestors; in the tenth he had 1,024; in the fifteenth he had 32,768; in the seventeenth, where the name Tolstoy was conferred, he had 131,072, and in the twentieth generation he had 1,918,576 ancestors, of whom Indris was one. Tolstoy was just as truly and directly descended from 1,918,575 other individuals of the same generation.

And all his ancestors of the entire twenty generations added together number no less than 2,007,000 persons.

about the present population of China.

Or this host of human beings whose blood flowed in the veins of Tolstoy the German Indris was merely a single individual.

SAVES TROUBLE AND FUEL.

over one burner at a time, and usually too, cooking pots and pans are unnecessarily large for small families. All the food that a small family of two or three persons requires can be contained in the pots shown here, and if the dishes require different lengths of time on the range, they can be put on or taken off separately. As will readily be seen, this utensil will be especially convenient to this.

This recipe makes a pint of buttery cough syrup that you could buy ready-made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Phex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful over one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough, in a way that means business.

Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful.

A handy remedy for hoarseness, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

FEAST OF PURIM IS CELEBRATED TODAY

FEAST OF PURIM IS CELEBRATED TODAY

Jews All Over the World Commemorate the Delivery of Their Ancestors From Persian Rule.

Today is the feast of Purim, one of the numerous Jewish holidays that are celebrated the world over.

The celebration is primarily a joyous one, and is entirely secular in meaning, consisting of merrymaking and feasting, of making gifts to friends and relatives, and the giving of "shuhanimot," or gifts, to the poor by especially endowed.

The feast of Purim was established to commemorate the deliverance of the people of Israel from the machinations of Haman, the prime minister of King Achashveros of Persia, who sought to destroy the entire population of Jews in that kingdom through jealousy of Mordecai, who was a prominent and much-respected member of the Jewish community.

The plans for the destruction of the Jews conceived by Haman were frustrated by Queen Esther, a Jewess, and the niece of Mordecai. The whole story is contained in the Book of Esther, and the only religious element in the celebration of the feast is the reading of the "Megillah," the Book of Esther, in the synagogues of the Orthodox Jews.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

OATMEAL GOOD WINTER FOOD.

Oatmeal, most nutritious of the cereals, is especially appropriate in winter for one doing heavy physical work, but it should not be given to children under 3 years nor to the aged, being more difficult to digest than wheat. It should be cooked long at low temperature, in a double boiler or fireless cooker—the best way to cook any food. Thus the albumen and other food elements are less injured than by the higher temperature required by the ordinary and especially by dry heat.

New Meat Boiler.

A boiler, invented by a Virginian, holds the meat to be cooked in a vertical position within a casing that catches every drop of juice that falls from it.

BREEZE FROM SUNNY FLORIDA IN LETTER TO DR. BEATON

Letter From F. F. Lewis to Dr. David Beaton Tells of the Beauties of Florida.

The following letter is so graphic in the description of the delights of Florida and so full of fine observations of nature that, though a private communication to Dr. David Beaton, he thought it ought to get a wider circulation among the lovers of nature and recreation and so it was given to the Gazette for publication:

CLEVELAND, Fla., March 8, 1911.
My Dear Dr. Beaton:

When I particularly enjoy this balmy southern air, my mind immediately reverts to you and your love of nature. The air here is simply perfect—the sun generally rises in a haze which clears away in an hour or so; then the combination of sunshine and cool, balmy breeze is simply delightful through the rest of the day, till towards night, the "haze" develops again and the sun is lost to view. The twilight is very short, darkness settling down upon us almost immediately. There have been no rain clouds since we came—the people say no rain for about four months. The foliage, however, is fresh and bright and fruits look normal. You can imagine the pleasure we have in the fresh oranges and grape-fruits.

We take daily trips up the river and numerous creeks, and on the bay to Punta Gorda, five miles below, and other places. Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Biles have hunting outfitts and a pointer, also fishing equipments, and keep our table supplied with game and fish. The season closed we had game up to date, today we go up to a creek about twelve miles where we will have a picnic dinner, one of the conditions being that "we must catch the fish for a fish dinner and the ladies must cook the dinner."

Her death followed a long illness and she had been confined to a hospital since last June. The remains will be taken to her old home in Washington, D. C. for burial. She leaves beside her husband, a mother and two sisters.

CHAPTER XVII.

FATHER AND SON.

HAVING the sacrificial bidding to do, Evan Blount was not of those who make a painful task more painful by needlessly postponing it. Judge Hemingway was sitting in chambers. This Blount had learned when he was returning from his call upon Blenknap. With the way open before him there was nothing to do but to walk in it.

The courthouse was only two squares east and one south from his offices in the Temple court building, and on one of the intervening corners stood the towerlike building of the Daily Capital.

It was on the Capital corner that Blount halted, asking himself how far he would be justified in withholding Grayson's statement from the editor until after the scandal had been public property through its appearance in the court records. Open suddenly had been his watchword from the beginning, and was he to hesitate now because the two kinsmen were holding him back?

While he was hesitating before the door of the newspaper office a small red touring car dropped out of the stream of vehicles in the street and stopped at the curb. A moment later he became conscious that the single occupant of the car was calling to him. It was Patricia, and her mood was reproachful:

"I like the way you treat your friends," she said when he had crossed quickly to her. "What have I done that you should send word to me that you couldn't or wouldn't see me?"

"You have done nothing—nothing at all," he made haste to say. "I have been overruled all day with callers—people who had much to ask and nothing to give in return. I had no idea that you would come so early when I told Collins to deny me to everybody. And there was another thing. If you could know—"

"I am very willing to know," she interrupted.

The newspaper corner was one of the busiest in the city, and its curb was no place for confidences. Blount stepped quickly around the front end of the red car and swung himself into the seat beside its driver. "Drive into one of the quiet streets," he said, "and I'll share the miserable burden with you, as I have shared all the others." And when the little car was creeping up the low gear out one of the broad residence avenues he told her all, exaggerating nothing and palliating nothing.

"I can't reason against the facts, Evan. You know what you are saying and why you are warranted in saying it," she began. "But I still believe absolutely in your father. What are you going to do?"

"The only thing there is to do," he returned, with a note of hardness in his voice which was only a measure of his suffering. "When you picked me up on the Capital corner I was on my way to Judge Hemingway's chambers with the affidavits. I have taken a solemn oath, Patricia, and the law which I have sworn to uphold is greater than yours."

He was going to say "is greater than any man's immunity," but she finished the sentence otherwise for him.

"Is greater than your love for your father. I suppose I ought to be able to understand that, but I am not. Evan, you must not do it. Every drop of that father's blood in your veins ought to cry out against it."

"Ah," he said, with a quick inward drawing of his breath. "You don't know what it is costing me!"

"Truly, I don't. Evan, your father is a great and good man. If he had a daughter instead of a son she would know it. I wish I were his daughter. I should try to show him that blood is thicker than water!"

"You wish you were his daughter? Do you realize what you are saying?" Then, brokenly: "Don't, Patricia! Don't make me do evil that good may come. Can't you understand how I am driven to do this thing, how every fiber of me is rebelling against the savage necessity? God knows I'd give my life and all my hopes of happiness if the necessity could be wiped out!"

Instantly she changed her attack. "If I can't belie you I must and will convince you," she persisted. "You are a brave man, Evan. I know, because I have seen you tried. You didn't turn cowardly now."

"Nor shall I," he countered quickly, "but I don't understand."

"Isn't you? Isn't it cowardly to strike this cruel blow in the dark? You know your father isn't here to defend himself. You can't do such a thing without at least giving him the warning that you would give your bitterest enemy."

"His absence is merely an added twist of the thumb-screws," he said in fresh wretchedness. "He is not here, and the time is too short to get him here. What is done must be done today—this afternoon. Otherwise it will be too late to stop this last and most shameless attack upon the liberties of every honest voter in this commonwealth. Don't make it harder for me, Patricia. Surely you can see how hard it is as it stands."

"I can see that you are about to do something for which in all the years to come you will never be able to get your own forgiveness, Evan," she said.

Then, with a sudden skillful flick of the speed lever, she sent the little car ahead with a lurch, steering it in the sharpest of swerves into the nearest cross street affording an outlet to the northern road.

"Stop, Patricia!" he cried. "What are you doing? I must go back to the courthouse!"

"I'll take you back to the courthouse," she promised, deftly slipping in the third speed, "and you shall be there before Judge Hemingway goes home. But, in common justice, you must and shall first tell your father what you are going to do. Don't try to stop me! If I run into something and smash the car!"

WILL JONES
"DON'T TRY TO STOP ME!"

With the switch plug on the dash within easy touch, it would have been a simple matter for him to stop the car. But her single-hearted devotion was not to be so easily thwarted. It had not occurred to him that he might drive to Waukesha Hall and return in time to set the legal machinery in motion to stop the frauds. So when he leaned forward it was not to throw the electric switch, as she feared; it was merely to adjust the wind shield so that the blast of the speed rush would not blow them both breathless.

For fifteen miles north of the capital the quadrangle road is a straightaway race track, and Miss Amers proved herself a fearless driver. Almost before Blount realized it the red car was among the hills and climbing to the mesa levels. At Shoshone canyon they passed a horseman coming down the canyon road. The man's horse stalled at sight of the car and threatened to bolt, but Patricia was looking straight ahead and made no movement to slacken speed. In the passing glimpse Blount thought he recognized the rider. It was the man Barco or his double.

By the time the little car was flying up the cottonwood sentinel avenue at Waukesha Hall Patricia had broken a record. The thirty miles from the capital had been covered in forty-two minutes.

When she brought the car to a stand at the carriage entrance the young woman spoke for the first time since she had given David Blount's son her ultimatum.

"Find your father quickly and say what it is right to say. When you are ready to go back I'll keep my promise and drive you."

It was old Barnabas who admitted the hearing of evil tidings. "Yes, said Alustah Majah's in do library," was the answer to Blount's question. And, throwing coat and hat aside, the hearer of burdens not his own walked quickly across the hall and let himself into the room of trial.

"Well, son, you made out to get here, didn't you?" said the father quietly, pushing a book aside. "Draw up a chair. Where is the little girl?"

Blount saw instantly that he must be brief and pliable.

"Miss Amers is at the carriage entrance in the car, waiting to take me back to town," he said, constraining himself to speak calmly. "I have an appointment with Judge Hemingway which must be kept, and he leaves his chambers at 4 o'clock. Do you know why I have made that appointment?"

The senator shook his head slowly. "How should I know, son?"

"It's not a pleasant thing to have to tell you," the younger man went on, ignoring the chair to which the long-stommed pipe was pointing. "But Patricia says I must. A little over an hour ago evidence—legal evidence—of corruption and false registration in four of the city wards was put into my hands. You know what I've got to do with it, father?"

The older man nodded. "Yes, I know what you think you've got to do with it. But I wouldn't do it if I were your son. Haven't you learned that one of the first rules in the book of politics is not to hang the dirty clothes out where everybody can see them?"

Evan's heart sank within him. It was evident that his father was still unsusppecting, still unconscious of the impending blow. Only utter frankness could avail now.

"I can't discuss expediency with you," he said hastily. "This evidence I speak of involves you personally. There is trouble ahead, serious trouble, and you don't seem to realize it. The city papers will be out in the morning publishing evidence of other crooked political work—evidence which I have been gathering here and there all over the state and which was stolen when my safe was blown up last week. I did not intend to publish it if I could help it. I was holding it over my own people as a club to make them decent and to keep them decent. But I have reason to believe that it has been edited so that it will accuse only you and the machine, and by tomorrow morning the entire state will know. I don't have to tell you what the effect of this added exposure of wholesale corruption in the capital is going to be."

The senator had held the pipe aside and was staring soberly at the fire.

"You're a man among a thousand, son," he said quietly. "When it comes to a pure question of right and wrong you don't hesitate a minute, do you? You haven't said it in so many words, so I'll say it for you. You've got me right where you can send me to the penitentiary! That's about what you're trying to tell me, isn't it?"

15 AMERICANS EXECUTED?

El Paso Fears Men Captured in Battle at Casas Grandes Were Slain—Rigid War Measure Is Adopted.

London, March 14.—Foreign Secretary Edward Grey, who presided in the house of commons during Premier Asquith's absence, confirmed the statement made by Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, that Great Britain would have 20 dreadnoughts by 1914 and that Germany would have 21.

Sir Edward emphasized the cordiality of Great Britain's foreign relations and said it was his earnest desire that nothing disturb these friendships, especially with Germany.

The secretary then discussed the disarmament question. He said that the most civilized nations had spent the largest amount of money on armaments, but that he believed that in the future it would be just the opposite, for the growth of armaments in the long run would break civilization down.

Sir Edward was loudly applauded when he read his interpretation of President Taft's recent speeches on arbitration as conveying the idea that Great Britain and the United States should agree never to go to war again on any ground whatever.

He announced that the British government would be glad to consider an offer embodying President Taft's idea and he believed that parliament would endorse a peace treaty.

Lord Charles Beresford also expressed the belief that the only hope for world peace was an agreement among the English speaking people.

The prevailing opinion in the lobby was that Sir Edward's declaration must give a great impetus to the international peace movement.

American Destroyed Railroad.

One of these Americans, Capt. Oscar G. Croighton, a Harvard graduate, with a band of insurgents, many of whom are Americans, is camped 16 miles south of Juarez. The proximity of the revolutionists is looked upon as an effort to induce General Navarro's 2,000 men to take the field. Croighton's men came within ten miles of Juarez, and the shock of an explosion which blew up a railroad bridge was felt in this city.

The destruction of the bridge has set up the railroad, which for a time has been open as far as Candelaria. It also put an end to the hope of sending relief by train to the city of Chihuahua.

War Measure Is Favored.

Mexico City, March 14.—Mexico's proposed war measure, which has attracted worldwide attention—the bill to suspend certain concessions of personal rights under specified circumstances—was approved by the permanent commission of congress in a form as drafted by the department of the interior.

Apparently taking it for granted that the bill will become a law, the war department has already made its plans for co-operation. The guards along public highways and railways will be doubled, according to Gen. Manuel Cordero, minister of war.

More Dead at Agua Prieta.

Douglas, Ariz., March 14.—The bodies of two more federal soldiers were found on the Agua Prieta battlefield by a rancher. This brings the total dead among the government soldiers to 15.

Col. Mora of the government troops and Commissioner Vasquez said they would prepare an official report of the battle, which would show that 30 rebels were killed and only two federal.

Many of the wounded are in a serious condition and without medical aid will die.

No Intervention, Says Dickinson.

New York, March 14.—Jacob M. Dickinson, secretary of war, who is in New York in connection with Panama canal affairs, gave this explanation of the mobilization of the army in Texas:

"On account of the immense frontier and the fact that the Rio Grande can be crossed at almost any point, a larger number of troops is involved than would otherwise be necessary. There could be no excuse for intervention unless the Mexican government were negligent in protection of persons and property and this would have to be firmly manifested before any such step could be taken. There are no conditions existing now that would warrant such action on our part."

"In order to maintain the neutrality laws it was deemed advisable to send troops to the border, but this spot was originally selected as the best place for the training of officers and men, and this along a somewhat longer scale than at first planned."

Michigan Builders Meet.

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 14.—The annual convention of the Michigan State Association of Builders was opened at the Elks' temple today. Representatives from all over the state were present at the opening exercises. Many matters of great importance to the building trades will be discussed.

Its Keynote, "I heard of some optimistic souls suggesting a salvation rally in Wall street. What do you think such a movement should take as its motto?"

"It's ordinary ones! Let us pray!"

BRITISH MINISTER ANNOUNCES GOVERNMENT'S POLICY.

Foreign Secretary Grey Fears Revolt by Masses From Growth of Armament—Lauds President Taft.

St. Petersburg, March 14.—Russia has sent an ultimatum to China, insisting upon a closer adherence to the provisions of the treaty of 1881, which has been the subject of negotiations between the two countries for several weeks.

The foreign office instructed Mr. Kurostovets, Russian minister at Peking, to make verbal representations to the Chinese government that would leave no doubt as to Russia's firm attitude.

The ultimatum embodies two points, the reopening of Russia's consululates at points specified in the treaty of 1881 and the establishment of free trade in certain products, including tea, in fulfillment of article 12 of the same treaty.

The immediate execution of China's treaty obligation toward Russia can interrupt the advance of the army which is to occupy Kufu. Two brigades of sharpshooters, four battalions of Cossacks, two batteries of field guns and eight batteries of machine guns were dispatched from Margolian in Turghana, Turkestan, shortly after the receipt of China's second reply.

Advices to the war office say the expedition is within 100 miles of the frontier and steadily advancing, in order to reach the frontier about the time of the presentation of the ultimatum.

The Russian force is considered sufficient to reoccupy and hold Kufu, as the Chinese troops, although nominally 10,000 in number, hardly number 2,000. They are undisciplined and of diverse equipment, and lack artillery.

OGDEN MILLS REID WEDDED

Son of Ambassador to England and Miss Helen Miles Rogers Are Married at Racine.

Racine, Wis., March 14.—Whitelaw Reid, United States ambassador to England, and his family attended the wedding of his son, Ogden Mills Reid, to Miss Helen Miles Rogers, which took place today at the Racine college chapel.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Benjamin Talbot Rogers of Fond du Lac, and is a graduate of Barnard college.
